Participants Needed for Study on Adapting Physical Tools to Facilitate Learning of Motor Skills

We are looking for participants to try out a new learning environment that helps with learning motor skills that use physical tools, such as playing basketball.

Qualified participants should be at least 18 years old and should not have prior experience playing basketball. The experiment lasts at most 1 hour, and pays up to $10. Day and evening times are available.

If you are interested in joining the study, please send an email to: stefanie.mueller@mit.edu
